

Abstract

In a progressive hair removal surface a substrate is provided which includes a plurality of protrusions defining surfaces collectively forming adjacent peaks and valleys. A plurality of abrasive members project from at least one of the surfaces forming the protrusion for progressively abrading hair from a hirsute surface as said hair removal surface is drawn there across.